Front Door When

FRESNO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Mary Stammer, 15, daughter of Walter H. Stammer, prominent Fresno attorney, was fatally beaten by an unidentified man last night as she sat reading before the fireplace in the family's palatial home in the Fig Garden district north of the city.

The crime was discovered by Mrs. Stammer upon her return from a railroad station where she had taken Mr. Stammer, who left on a business trip to San Bernardino.

Frightened Away

The man broke into the house through a rear door by cutting the screen and breaking the glass, and clubbed the girl into insensibility as she sat in her chair. He then carried her into a lower floor bedroom, but apparently was frightened away by the return of Mrs. Stammer. He fled through the front door as Mrs. Stammer entered the rear.

Numerous bloody fingerprints and footprints were found in the house and police have rounded up almost 100 transients in hobo "jungles" and other haunts for questioning.

Dies in Hospital

The crime took place while two smaller children of the family were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom, and did not awaken until their mother went to see if they had been molested.

The girl was removed to a hospital and died there about two hours later without regaining consciousness.

ARIZONA STARTS
WATER SUITS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The state of Arizona filed suit in the supreme court today asking a final adjudication of the waters of the Colorado river.

Arizona's complaint named as defendants the six states of California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming.

James R. Moore, special Arizona assistant attorney general, who filed the action, said, however, it was directed "principally at California, which is preparing to appropriate to her own use practically the entire flow of the Colorado below Lee's Ferry."

He said he expected "as many as five years" might elapse before the supreme court reaches a decision on the final decree.

Sales Tax Shows 1935 Business in County
Is Surpassing Last Year by Wide Margin

The Journal is presenting here the first of the articles by Roch Bradshaw dealing with the sales tax and liquor license fees as they affect Orange county. These taxes have played a large part in the revenue system of the state as well as the county. The second article will deal with liquor license fees and give an indication of the amount of hard liquor consumed in Orange county. The third article will show what Orange county gets from the state in return for these tax and license payments.—Editor.

By ROCH BRADSHAW

"Have you got a penny for Jimmy?"

When the sales tax was inaugurated under the administration of the late Gov. James Rolph, Jr., storekeepers used to have to remind customers to dig into their pockets. Everyone got a smile out of the phrase, "A penny for Jimmy," and it made it easier to fork over the copers. But nowadays the sales tax is taken for granted; and in the meantime the "pennies for Jimmy" have grown to a tremendous sum.

Last year Orange county residents contributed more than three-quarters of a million dollars to the state general fund, chiefly in the form of pennies. The exact figure was $798,677.89. This means that Orange county did a gross retail business of $26,622,796 on taxable goods.

The sales tax may be cursed a lot, but it serves one useful purpose that everyone can appreciate, and that is as an indicator of business conditions. Already this year Orange county merchants have done more business than in all of 1934, judging by the sales tax figures. During the first three-quarters of this year Orange county's contribution through this tax amounted to a rough total of $868,150.

This is $69,472.11 more than the tax paid for all of last year. The sales tax amounts to 3 per cent of the gross sales. On this basis the tax paid so far this year evidences a gross business of $28,938,300. It is three-quarters of the total for the year, then business for the 12-month period (Please Turn to Page 6, Col. 4)

China Seaplane Off On Third Leg Of Trip
To Philippines

MIDWAY ISLAND, Nov. 25. (AP) (Via Pan-American Radio).—The China Clipper took off at 6:12 a. m. (9:12 a. m. Santa Ana time) today for Wake Island.

Capt. Edwin C. Musick, his crew and nine passengers, four of whom are Chinese, expect to reach Wake, 1191 miles distant in about seven hours flying time.

The Chinese are mess boys and cooks being taken to Wake to work in the culinary service of the Pan-American company.

The Clipper flies from today to tomorrow in this hop, the third on the route of the commercial flying service between California and the Orient, as Midway and Wake are on opposite sides of the international date line.

En route to Manila on an 8000 mile flight to establish trans-Pacific air mail service, the 25-ton seaplane landed here yesterday from Honolulu on the second stop of its voyage.

A handful of airways employees and hundreds of squawking gooney birds, aroused by the plane's roaring motors, were on hand to greet the plane at 2:01 p. m. (6:01 p. m. Santa Ana time).

U. S. WOMEN BEST DRESSED
Designers Choose Americans

PARIS, Nov. 25. (AP)—Lady Mendi (Elsie de Wolfe), American-born Paris society woman, was called the best dressed woman in the world today in an Associated Press poll of leading Paris dressmakers.

The dressmakers selected American women generally as the most elegantly gowned. Ten were included in a list of the 20 style-setters of the world, named without ranking after first place.

The fashion world estimated that to maintain a rank among the best dressed women costs from $10,000 to $40,000 a year—the top figure about one-third less than many of the world's best dressed women spent in 1928.

The Americans listed besides Lady Mendi were:

25 Counties in North China
Declare Freedom; Ask Japan
To Help in Anti-Red Purge

(By The Associated Press)

An autonomous government for a large section of North China was inaugurated today and immediately called on Japan for assistance.

Yin Ju-Keng, head of the new nine-man autonomous council for 25 counties in Hopeh and Chahar province, asked Japanese government officials and militarists to send troops "to purge North China of Communists."

"I stand for the rescue of China and close harmony with Japan," Yin announced in proclaiming political independence from Nanking.

At the simple ceremony of inauguration of the new government, Yin disclosed the five provinces of North China had been invited to join the 25 counties in self government. At the same time he emphasized the movement was "autonomous, not separatist."

He said his government will control all revenues except the salt and customs taxes.

Plan May Spread

There was widespread belief that the autonomy government, now begun, might spread to other North China provinces. Gen. Sung-Chueh-Yuan, overlord of Hopeh and Chahar provinces, it was thought, might continue the process, but the plans of other leaders were unclear.

Sung-Chueh-Yuan withdrew troops which he had sent to Tungchow, capital of the newly declared independent region, in response to accusations from the Japanese military that the presence of the troops violated the agreement for demilitarization of the zone.

Along the great wall of China were Japanese troops, ready to meet any attempt by the central government to block the autonomy program by military force.

Whether the autonomy movement would spread appeared to rest with Gen. Sung-Chueh-Yuan.

Farm Bureau Leaders,
Citizens' Committee
Meeting On Plans

The water problem was advancing again today to command the limelight in Orange county.

Two groups were in action laying plans for the election campaign at which the voters will have a second opportunity to approve a $6,620,000 bond issue for the water program.

Meeting as a board of strategy, the executive committee of the larger citizens' flood control committee met this afternoon with W. H. Spurgeon, chairman, to formulate definite plans for the campaign. Names of six new appointees to the committee also were announced.

Farm bureau officials also conferred this afternoon to map plans which will lead to a statement as to the farm bureau's position on the water project. L. A. Bortz, president, and Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the farm bureau, expected this afternoon to set a date for a general meeting of farm bureau officers, at which the matter of the farm bureau's stand will be determined.

This meeting may be held this week, but the interference of Thanksgiving may cause a postponement. The farm bureau was an enthusiastic supporter of the program during the last campaign.

Mr. Spurgeon made public the names of the six men who have been selected to become members of the enlarged executive committee, enlargement of which was authorized at a meeting Friday night. Those selected, some of whom have not yet been contacted, are: (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

ATHENS HAILS
KING GEORGE

Exiled Monarch Returns
In Triumph to Rule
Over Greek Empire

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

ATHENS, Nov. 25. — King George II made a triumphant return to Athens today, carried on the shoulders of a friendly crowd which swept out of control in its enthusiasm for the recalled monarch, was charged by cavalry with drawn sabres.

One person was reported wounded in the jostling which signalled the end of the king's 12-year absence from the throne and the completion of his journey back from London.

In U. S. Autos

The king, wearing a monocle and an admiral's uniform, landed from the cruiser Helle at nearby Phaeon and drove with the crown prince to Athens in American-made automobiles.

Formal ceremonies were held under an improvised arch at the entrance to the capital.

"Who goes there?" the king was challenged.

"The king of the Hellenes," he replied proudly.

The monarch stepped down from his car at the city entrance and the wildly enthusiastic crowd broke through police lines to catch him up, shoulder high, before the cavalry charge restored order.

A procession then formed and moved to the cathedral for a solemn deum mass, conducted by the archbishop of Athens, Monsignor Cryostome.

After the cathedral service, the monarch drove to the royal palace to resume the throne he abdicated in 1923, when he was ordered into exile at the demand of army and navy officers.

King George was recalled by the overwhelming approval of a plebiscite Nov. 3 after a monarchist coup signalled the end of the republic.

ELLSWORTH AND

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. (AP)—A worrisome silence separated Lincoln Ellsworth and his pilot, Herbert Hollock-Kenyon from their base ship in the Antarctic today.

Ellsworth and Hollock-Kenyon, who left Dundee island on a flight to the Ross sea, 2140 miles away, last communicated by wireless with the base ship at 10:48 a. m. Saturday, only a few hours after their take-off, the New York Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance reported.

COUNTY MAY GET 3 NEW ARMORIES

Santa Ana, Orange And
Anaheim Are Slated
For Structures

SITES ARE REQUIRED

Cities Must Apply For
WPA Aid Immediately
To Insure Action

An $80,000 armory for Santa Ana; another one in Orange, and a third at Anaheim, each of the latter two costing $65,000.

It appeared today as though these three structures will be under construction within the next few months.

This news was broadcast today by Major Donald Winans, third battalion, 185th infantry, California National Guard. If the projects go through, they will be built by the Works Progress administration, with direct federal grants from a fund set up for this purpose to build armories throughout the nation.

Sites to be Provided

The three cities will be required only to provide the sites.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Morehead, said Major Winans, has written to mayors of the three cities to the effect that "We have received tentative approval of this project."

Brig. Gen. Morehead also wrote to Howard I. Wood, chamber of commerce secretary here, informing him that plans and specifications for the proposed Santa Ana armory, along with WPA application forms, have been sent to Mayor Fred Rowland. Similar plans have been sent to mayors of Orange and Anaheim.

Action Now Is Needed

Under the proposed setup the cities would apply to the WPA for aid in constructing the armories. This action will have to be taken immediately, the letters said, in order to receive favorable action at Washington.

The plans as now set up call for a double unit armory for Santa Ana, costing $80,000, Major Winans said. Single unit armories are planned for Anaheim and Orange, each costing $65,000.

Features For Each

Each structure would contain a drill hall 75 by 100 feet in size, a stage, canteen, room, indoor rifle range, garage and kitchen. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

NO ROBES FOR JUDGES HERE
Jurists Agree on Subject

Dignity of the Orange county superior court will be upheld in blue serge, tweeds, gray flannels or any individual type of wearing apparel the judge may fancy, according to a survey of the three departments today.

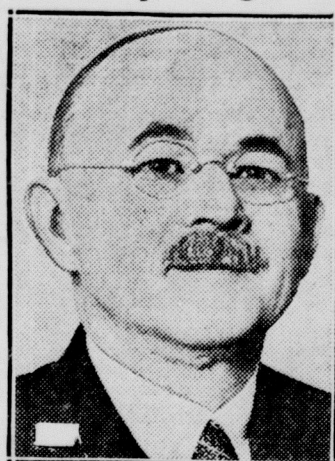

When queried as to whether judicial robes of black silk will be worn by jurists here, the unanimous answer was "no, no, a thousand times no."

The survey was made following a recent announcement that after Jan. 1, 1936, judges of the Los Angeles municipal court will wear the gowns.

Presiding Judge James L. Allen, of department 2, said: "I am not in favor of wearing judicial robes. We are here to transact business and not to stage a show. I cannot see that the judicial robe lends dignity to the court. The court can be without dignity in a robe as easily as it can without a costume. I will not wear one unless forced to by the vote of the other judges here."

DENVER, Nov. 25. (AP)—Superior Judge Benjamin Barr Lindsey of Los Angeles, nationally known as the founder of the Denver juvenile court, was reinstated to the Colorado bar today by the supreme court which banished him in 1929 on sensational charges.

The announcement came on the sixty-sixth birthday of the former Colorado jurist, who was charged with gross official misconduct and disbarred after he had accepted a "gift" of $47,500 which became involved with the Helen Elwood Stokes divorce case.

Prevented from seeking office in Colorado, where he had ruled 30 years over the famed juvenile court, he went to California and was elected a superior judge in Los Angeles.

The Colorado supreme court brought the case up again today on its own motion and announced the reinstatement of the slight statured man who was for a decade a factor in Colorado politics. The vote was 6 to 1, only Justice John Campbell opposing.

RIVER OF LAVA
STILL MOVING

HILO, Hawaii, Nov. 25. (AP)—A scarlet river of lava, fed by great fountains spouting from a new two-mile rift in Mauna Loa mountain, rolled toward Hilo today.

The livid mass in places flowed at a speed estimated at 25 miles an hour by Hawaii National park staff men. Its pace diminished as it cooled, however, and little fear was felt for this city because some 40 miles of comparatively flat, rough table lands lay between Mauna Loa and Hilo.

'Graf' Is Scheduled To Land Near Scene Of Insurrection

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 25. (AP) President Getulio Vargas asked the Brazilian congress to declare a two-month "state of siege" throughout the nation today as alleged Communists battled for power in Northeast Brazil.

The rebels were reported to have gained control of Natal, important seaport and capital of the state of Rio Grande do Norte, and the city of Macahyba in the same state. The latter, 16 miles south-west of Natal, has a population of 2500. Natal has 35,000 inhabitants.

Communications Crippled

Fighting was under way in Olinda, a suburb of Natal.

Another outbreak was reported in Curitiba, capital of the southern state of Parana.

Disrupted communications made it impossible to determine how many casualties may have occurred.

The "state of siege," which amounts to modified martial law, was called for by the president to overcome "an extremist plot to change not only the political but also the social order" of Brazil.

Natal was captured yesterday by rebel soldiers said by federal officials to be Communists. The soldiers were led by their non-commissioned officers.

The federal government started two squadrons of airplanes, detachments of loyal soldiers, and several warships toward the north.

STANFORD GETS BID TO 'BOWL'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25. (AP)—Stanford university was selected today by the Pacific Coast conference to represent the West in the annual New Year's day game in the Rose bowl at Pasadena.

Stanford, once beaten, has indicated its desire to play an undefeated team and these had become increasingly scarce today.

Of the eligibles, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and New York University stood out and at least one of these was expected to be missing by Saturday since the two Texas teams met at Fort Worth to decide the Southwest championship. The eastern team also stands a chance of disappearing from the picture since N. Y. U. meets its toughest rival, Fordham, on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Both Southern Methodist and Texas Christian have a Dec. 7 contest, but it was considered unlikely that the western team would wait that long to make its decision. S. M. U. plays Texas A. and M. and the T. C. U. eleven comes west to play Santa Clara.

SUPREME COURT BARS COLLECTION OF AAA PROCESSING TAXES

JUDGES VOTE 6 TO 3 ON PROBLEM

Decision May Be Given Dec. 9 On Lindy Case Appeal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Over the protest of the government, the supreme court barred today collections of AAA processing taxes from eight rice millers until it can pass upon the right of citizens to obtain injunctions against the levies.

Cases brought by Louisiana millers challenging the taxes were set for argument Dec. 16—a week after the court will hear the AAA defended and attacked in the Hoosac Mills case.

Vote is 6 to 3

The high court's action was by a 6 to 3 vote, with Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo dissenting against the injunction. It was on condition the taxes shall be paid into a court-appointed depository.

Other millers may bring similar suits.

Only one final decision was handed down before the court adjourned for two weeks.

Win Lower Rates

Entering the court room Chief Justice Hughes announced the soft coal operators in the Kentucky Big Sandy field had won their effort to obtain lower railroad rates. The ruling was unanimous.

When the court reconvenes Dec. 9, it will face a busy time on the Hoosac case, the attack by Lee Moor, Texas planter, against the Bankhead cotton act, and a suit on the Tennessee valley law.

A ruling also is possible Dec. 9 on whether the court will review the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for kidnaping and slaying the Lindbergh baby.

BLACKS DRIVE ENEMY BACK IN AFRICA

By JAMES A. MILLS

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 25. (AP)—The Ethiopian government claimed today the tide of battle on the northern front was definitely turning in favor of Ethiopia, as the result of the victories within three days by crack troops under Dejazmatch Wores.

Simultaneously, semi-official reports from the south stated the Italians had been driven from Gerarai, a fortified town in Ogaden province, with heavy losses. The Fascists had seized the town early in their penetration from Italian Somaliland.

From the east, the palace received word from Dejazmatch Mohammed Yabia, commander in Aussa province, who the Italians have asserted is a deserter, stating "the situation in my province is satisfactory."

The government announced Ras Seyoum's troops under Dejazmatch Wores surprised three Italian battalions north of Makale, killed the commander and several soldiers and dispersing the others.

This announcement followed another communique, asserting Ethiopian forces had driven the Italians south of Gorrabei, the fleeing Fascists leaving many dead.

The native defenders were said to be sweeping the invaders back after Emperor Haile Selassie's visit last week to the southern front.

DUCE SCORES DIPLOMATIC VICTORY OVER SANCTIONS

By the Associated Press

Premier Mussolini scored a diplomatic victory in his campaign against sanctions today as the Ethiopian government claimed he had lost military engagement on the African northern front.

The League of Nations announced the meeting of the sanctions committee of 18, scheduled for Friday, to consider an oil embargo against Italy, would be postponed to an undetermined date.

British observers saw the postponement of the sanctions discussion at Geneva as placing the United States in the leadership on the embargo. The American secretary of the interior, Harold Ickes, has urged American oil exporters not to send their product to Italy, while some pressure has been put on oil shippers indebted to the government.

Authoritative sources in Rome, while expressing some resentment against Ickes' plea, predicted the United States would not actually impose an oil embargo.

Official quarters said Italy has enough oil for many months.

It Duce was reported earlier to have warned France that a ban on oil shipments as an impediment to the prosecution of his campaign of occupation in Ethiopia "would mean war."

THEY'RE 'SANTANA' WINDS C. of C. Particular on Name

The Santa Ana chamber of commerce today announced that it has held an informal christening.

Hereafter the desert winds which, at rare intervals, caress this country, will be known as "santana" winds. And this does not mean Santa Ana.

The christening happened after Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber, received a letter from J. F. Bitterlin of the Southern California Telephone company at Los Angeles, asking information on the reason why misinformed persons have called the winds Santa Ana winds.

Mr. Wood got in touch with County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, authority on local history, and armories also would serve as community centers, in that except on drill nights twice a week, they would be available for public functions.

The sites for the Orange and Santa Ana armories have not been decided upon, but that at Anaheim will be located in the new city park now under construction. The Santa Ana city council some time ago offered a site for the armory at the north end of the property on which the municipal bowl is located.

The three cities have been working on the armory projects for months, and for a time a single large armory was contemplated, to be located near the county hospital.

WHITNEY CASE AUDIT ENDED

Investigation of the office of Miss Justine Whitney, county recorder, by the grand jury was expected to be completed today.

Grand jury auditors, who have been checking books of the office for several years prior to this year, are said to have submitted a report as to their findings. This report, it is said, was under discussion for the major portion of the grand jury's session this morning, and was to be carried over this afternoon.

Shortly before noon, after the auditors had submitted their report, District Attorney W. F. Menton was called before the jury and remained closeted with that body until the noon recess.

It is understood that the auditors not only checked the accounts of the recorder's office but personal transactions of Miss Whitney as well. W. H. Hay, foreman of the grand jury, declined to state whether findings of the inquisitorial body in connection with charges made against Miss Whitney would be announced immediately, or await filing of the jury's annual report.

DEFENSE PLANS BRING GLOOM

LONDON, Nov. 25. (AP)—Already groaning under an income tax of $1.25 per $5, British tax-payers are gloomily weighing their privy purses against the calls of patriotism as symbolized by a proposed billion-dollar defense program.

That sum, according to financial experts, will be needed to bring Britain's navy, army and air force up to date.

But the question—already stirring fiery debate on street corners, in money markets and political halls—is whether the money should be raised by a defense loan, similar to American Liberty Bonds, or by direct taxation.

Many a jaundiced eye greeted Lord Mottistone's beaming suggestion that it should be called "the great national happiness loan"—using national credit, as represented by some $6,390,000 savings amassed in the three major savings institutions, to bolster the defense forces.

COOKING CLASS HERE TUESDAY

Holiday cakes and puddings will be the featured desserts at the Southern Counties Gas company cooking school to be conducted by Margaret S. Lackland at the company headquarters, 207 West Second street, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Just prior to the Thanksgiving dinner the subject of cakes and puddings is apropos, and what to bake and how to bake it will be Mrs. Lackland's topic.

Following The Journal's recent cooking school, women have a vivid recollection of what to cook and the way to do it, and a large audience is expected to greet Mrs. Lackland tomorrow afternoon. She will demonstrate the English white fruit cake, 14-minute fruit cake, cream cheese frosting, steamed persimmon pudding, hard sauce, frozen plum pudding and mince meat.

JAPAN'S TEXTILE EXPORTS STILL LEAD IN WORLD

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 25. (AP)—Having wrested first place among the cotton textile exporting nations from Great Britain in 1934, Japan held that place through the first half of 1935 by an increasing margin.

Statistics published by the Export Cotton Yarn and Cloth Traders' Association, with headquarters here, gave Japan's cotton goods exports for the first six months of this year as 1,384,000,000 square yards, as against 1,001,000,000 for Britain.

In all continents except Europe, Japan outdid Britain. To Asia, including British India, Japan's cotton goods exports were $74,000,000 square yards; Britain's $74,000,000. In North and South America and Africa and Oceania, Japan's margin was smaller but marked.

The Gobi desert is also known in Chinese as Sha-mo (sand desert) and Han-hai (dry sea).

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

WE'RE regaining our faith in humanity.

Along comes an editor who attends a children's party, and furthermore, enjoys it.

We're reproducing his comments on the festivities here. There's such a function planned at our house Wednesday, and, since reading the account by Day Drexler, editor and publisher of the Westminster Gazette, we're going to ask The Boss for the afternoon off and try the same thing.

HERE are Editor Drexler's remarks:

"Last Thursday was a sort of 'children's day' for Ye Editor. For the first time in many years we went to a kid birthday party. The festivities were given for Jimmie Threder in conjunction with the Barber City Woman's club pot-luck dinner, and we sat at the table with 12 other children aged about 6 to 11, and whooped it up in grand style. Being the only youngster with a mustache present, we sat in the honored spot at the end of the table, where we labored diligently to keep the boys on either side from stealing our lollipop favors. Ye Editor sported a handsome blue and white striped paper fez and, while trying to look nonchalant as well as keep our dignity, enjoyed a splendid meal. We started out bravely with our questionable bass when the gang sang 'Happy Birthday to You,' and managed right well until toward the end when the gang got really going and you couldn't hear us at all.

"Then a bit later to the children's program at the Westminster school to watch the kiddies cavort, and they did put on a mighty fine program.

"All of which made us think how lucky children really are. The grammar years, in lots of ways, are the happiest in their lives—only they don't know it. No real worries—dad and mother take care of almost everything; no responsibilities for making a living and taking care of others. All too soon boys and girls are men and women and have to become editors, etc., to keep the 'rascally world' in his rightful place."

FOR SOME reason or other, we've been writing weather stories lately.

Saturday called for the usual rain story. Drizzles and drizzles in the county, and so they were duly reported, in our own haphazard fashion.

As everyone knows, a weather story calls for predictions about what's going to happen tomorrow, and we wish to apologize right here and now for the prediction of Saturday.

We hinted at bright, sunny skies and the pleasant sort of fall weather for Sunday. You may have noticed—it was cloudy all day.

For once, no blame can be placed upon Martin Murray, Huntington Beach forecaster, or Akana Imamura, Laguna's prognosticator. However, it isn't altogether our fault—Uncle Sam's weather men also predicted pleasant atmospheric conditions. We picked some pretty good guys to be wrong with, anyway.

WE READ that Laguna Beach community players are looking for a grandmother!

Investigation has disclosed that they're not looking for a fairy godmother, but an honest-to-goodness grandmother, to take part in "Tea Cup Tempest," which they're going to present Dec. 6 and 7.

Sons and daughters, fathers and mothers, villains, heroes, detectives, beautiful girls and all other needed participants in a play are plentiful on roles of the group, they report, but they still want a grandmother.

If anyone happens to see an unemployed actress—grandmother, they might tip her off!

NOTES TO YOU: A hunter tells us that quail hunting in the east portion of the county isn't so good. He saw lots of 'em just before the season opened, he said, but they've all "scrammed" now.

Looking over the old Yorba church and admiring methods used by the builders. Dobe brick are still in fine shape, where treasure-seekers have left 'em alone. Placencia's going to start work on their new school buildings soon. So's Fullerton on the new junior college. . . and Brea, on rebuilding high school. . . Lots of work . . .

TOLD BY 'FORTY-NINER'

By MRS. RACHEL POWELL

ORANGE.—Orange county has a real '49er!

Mrs. Margaret Caroline Bittle, 87, who lives on South Orange street here, crossed the plains with her parents during the gold rush days. She was only six months of age when she left her home in Arkansas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. James, and only a year old when she arrived in Los Angeles, she said today.

As one talks to this sweet-faced pioneer, it is hard to believe that she has been in Indian raids, has seen fever and pestilence, and has traveled almost alone over oceans and mountains.

When the pioneer party were traveling to Los Angeles, they were attacked by Indians, she said. A none was harmed, but stock stolen, and a cow brought along to furnish milk for the children was placed in the yoke to replace a missing ox, she said today, in telling of adventures which occurred on the trip.

Both Men Die

Before the travelers reached Panama, the uncle and Mr. Snell both died and were buried at sea. Again the little girls were alone, the oldest very ill. At Panama they were put off the boat, and there waited until the sister was able to travel. By this time the other sister and Mrs. Bittle were suffering from Panama fever, but they all got on the boat and continued to Aspinwall, where they were to change vessels. It is small wonder that there they took the wrong ship and were carried about the Pacific until they were finally landed at San Francisco.

Several years passed and again the father felt the urge to pioneer, so he took his family to Little Lake valley, Mendocino county, where they were the first white family in the valley. There he built a flour mill, and there in 1873 Mrs. Bittle was married.

From there she moved to Los Angeles, where she lived until seven years ago when she moved to Orange. As one talks to this little sweet-faced lady, it is hard to believe that Indian raids, ship wreck, fevers and pestilence have followed her young days; but perhaps her serenity has been learned in the face of hard necessity. Her feeling about the young people of today is that they are too pampered, and compared to the early struggles she endured, their existence seems pallid indeed.

The father tried to keep help, but no one could be found to care for the children, so he sent them back to Arkansas to their grandparents. The youngsters traveled by boat with a man named Inks. At Panama, Mrs. Bittle said, they crossed the isthmus on mule-back.

No women lived near, and the father cared for the youngsters the best he could, but was forced to leave them alone while he worked his mine. One day, Mrs. Bittle said, a Mexican told the older girls he had spilled a sack of coins and that if they would go with him and help pick them up, he would give them some. The children went, leaving Mrs. Bittle on an old well-covered, which was half open. The cover was high and she could not get down, so she screamed until her father heard her and came to her rescue, she said. He started a search, in which he was aided by the other miners, and soon found the sisters, unharmed.

the two older girls tied on a mule, and the younger carried by Mr. Inks.

Natives were clearing trees for a railway and one of the trees struck and killed the mule ridden by the sisters. The oldest girl was badly hurt, and natives made a hammock and carried her to the nearest station.

On the Atlantic, the boat was caught in a terrible gale. The sails were torn away and the vessel crippled. Several weeks later, three girls little more than skeletons arrived at the home of their grandparents in Arkansas. Later, the father married again and wishing his children to be with him, sent for them to come to California. Again a journey beset with adventure was started. A friend by the name of Snell, and an uncle were to accompany the girls, and the party left New Orleans by boat.

NEBRASKA IN LAW-MAKING EXPERIMENT

One - House Legislature To Be Tried; Social Program Adopted

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 25. (AP)—Nebraska's last two-house legislature sang its swan song today.

Before the final bows it was necessary to break a conference committee deadlock and inaugurate the most extensive program of social security ever considered in the state.

Meets in 1937

If no new emergency recalls the present legislators, the next session, in 1937, will be held by Nebraska's recently approved 43-member unicameral legislature.

The house and senate deadlocked on a secondary feature of the last bill Saturday night.

Thus, in the dying hours of the Nebraska two-house legislature, there developed the political contemps which U. S. Senator George W. Norris sought to eliminate when he sponsored the successful unicameral legislature amendment to the state constitution in 1934.

Social Program Set Up
A $10,000,000 experimental social security program was set up by the legislature, at the request of Gov. R. L. Cochran, to cooperate with every phase of the federal program, except unemployment compensation.

Appropriated for the program was $5,113,000, mostly from old and new gasoline taxes. An almost equal sum is expected from the federal government as soon as congress appropriates the money, expected in January or February.

The state money is to be spent in slightly more than a year, ending early in 1937 when the unicameral legislature will determine the future of the program.

WOMAN STARTS ACTION TO GET $8000 ESTATE
Charging that she provided the late Fred Strohm with a comfortable home and all the care and attention necessary to his health, comfort and welfare, Mrs. Laura Vaughan has started suit in superior court asking that her $8000 estate be held in trust for her.

The suit names as defendants Earl R. Abbey, as administrator of the Strohm estate, Margaret Goetz and William Strohm, relatives of the deceased. Mr. Strohm died June 15, 1935, she alleges, after having promised to make a will naming her sole beneficiary.

Mrs. Vaughn is asking that Mr. Abbey, Mrs. Goetz and Mr. Strohm be made trustees of the estate and be instructed to hold it in trust for her and that, if necessary, Mr. Abbey be restrained from disposing of or distributing the estate pending predicted litigation.

MORE ABOUT WRESTLING
but it is the certain beating due him that will attract the crowd. That and Szabo's handsome shoulders which will lure the fair sex to ringside.

Casey Columbo Back
Casey Columbo, who is second to Szabo as the "people's choice," faces one Mehmet Youssef, Turk rascal in a rematch of their strong-man battle of last week. The boys went 30 hug-and-tug minutes to a draw with Casey doing most of the work. Youssef is tough but Columbo will "savvy" him and win tonight. They go one fall.

Other supporting bouts find Nelson Davis, greatly improved brother of Wee Willie, facing "Preacher" Hogue, who looks more like an ex-convict than one of the clergy—if you care for that gag. Davis looks better each workout but Hogue likely is too dirty for him. Milo (Scorpion) Steinborn, the circus strong man, faces Indian Jack Smith in the opener.

JOHN ZELIANS HONORED BY GOLDEN WEDDING PARTY

Fifty years ago John Zelian and Ella Mills were united in marriage at Stockton, Cal.

Saturday night in honoring Mr. Zelian, former pupils of the old Tustin grammar school, where Mr. Zelian taught for many years, gathered at the Tustin Union High school en masse, coming from far and near, and as one great happy family, known as "Zeke's Bunch," they celebrated their golden wedding.

It was a gay assemblage. Men and women from all walks in life greeted old friends. Old schoolmates recalled "School days, school days, dear old golden rule days" of long ago when their beloved teacher taught them not only the three R's but instilled in their young minds some of the lessons of life, the strong foundation of character, high ideals, the beauty of right living, tolerance, courage, consideration and fairness. Mrs. Zelian, as the honored guests.

Event Outstanding
A golden wedding is a beautiful thing, and this one, with all its memories, the co-operation of this large family to make it a grand success was outstanding.

Of course there was a dinner—turkey just the right golden brown, with homemade cakes to tempt an epicure.

Long tables gay with candles and lovely fall flowers were attractive as the 200 guests marched in and took their places, standing until the "bride and groom," the last to be escorted to the honor table, were seated. Just before they came in the lights were turned low, making a striking picture, and as the lights were again turned on, the wedding cake, rising in three tiers, was placed before Mrs. Zelian.

Given Gold Tablet
To William C. Jerome was given the duty of presenting the gift of affection, a solid gold tablet made from gold collected from members of "Zeke's Bunch" with the inscription:

"To Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Zelian on their golden wedding day, Nov. 25, 1935. This token in appreciation of many golden years and true friendships, from the pupils of Tustin school from 1889 to 1909."

In response to Mr. Jerome's remarks, Mr. Zelian replied in part: "I regret that I am not a great orator that I might express all that is in my heart. In behalf of my dear helpmate and myself, I want to thank you for this beautiful gift, and for the thought back of it. The years have been happy ones, for my wife and I have always been lovers. We are now and always will be."

Mr. Zelian spoke with feeling of his appreciation and affection for his former pupils and longtime tried and true friends; of his pleasure in grasping their hands and mingling with them on such a happy occasion.

ANTI-WAR FILM TO SHOW HERE

Edwin Carewe's long-heralded film production, "Are We Civilized?" starring William Farnum and Anita Louise, is coming to the First Methodist church Tuesday.

"Are We Civilized?" is a scathing, yet entertaining, indictment of war and intolerance. Based on the theme that ignorance, superstition, greed and intolerance have been the greatest enemies of civilization throughout the ages, it shows how mankind defeats these forces through freedom of speech and freedom of press.

In addition to its all-star cast, "Are We Civilized?" features more than 25,000 persons in atmospheric roles. The picture has been filmed on a magnificent scale, with lavish and spectacular backgrounds. It has received the highest praise from critics and authorities in religious, educational and political circles, ever accorded a motion picture. In a recent showing at the White House, it was witnessed and applauded by President Roosevelt.

The picture is a masterpiece of the silent film, and is being shown in a nationwide radio broadcast.

"Are We Civilized?" is first of a series of feature films released by the newly-formed Edwin Carewe Pictures corporation for exclusive showings in churches, schools, clubs, and civic auditoriums throughout the country. It inaugurates a nationwide presentation of instructional film entertainment.

A number of other features will augment the program, including short subjects and special local features. Everybody is invited to attend.

TOWNSENDITES PLAN SERVICE
A Thanksgiving vesper service under auspices of Townsend clubs of Orange county will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church, Santa Ana, Thanksgiving day from 3:30 to 5 p. m., for the purpose of giving thanks for the progress which the Townsend movement is making and for the safe return of the many delegates from Orange county who attended the national convention in Chicago.

AUTO CARAVAN TAX FOUGHT IN L. A.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25. (AP)—An injunction was sought in federal district court on Friday against the new state "Caravan act."

The restraining order was asked by the Forthman-Wiseman Motor company of Hollywood. The firm objected to the collection of a $15 tax on every automobile brought into the state in a caravan and designed for resale. The objection was raised that the law was unconstitutional and discriminatory since a similar tax is not imposed on automobiles brought in by railroads.

MORE ABOUT SALES TAX
period should amount to $38,554.40. And the last quarter's business—the holiday trade—should be better than the others.

The figures for this year are more impressive, too, because food was eliminated from taxation by the last legislature, so that since July 1 there have been no food taxes paid by grocery stores. However, the tax rate rose from 2½ to 3 per cent on the same date, as an offset to elimination of food.

The above figures on Orange county's sales tax payments were supplied by W. C. Shay, head of the district office at San Bernardino for the state board of equalization, and were secured through the courtesy of Thomas Taylor, in charge of the local office.

The sales tax, Mr. Shay said, is imposed for the privilege of selling tangible personal property at retail. The rate is 3 per cent of the gross receipts from retail sales, except for certain exemptions.

These exemptions include tangible personal property which the state is prohibited from taxing under the national or state constitutions. This includes goods sold direct to the federal government and sales in interstate commerce. The use tax, however, reaches goods brought outside the state and used in this state.

Other Exemptions
Other exemptions include gas, electricity and water delivered through mains, gold bullion, gold concentrates (if you have any), food products for human consumption, except when sold in restaurants, and motor vehicle fuel. Also exempted were sales of tangible personal property used for the performance of a contract on public works executed prior to August 1, 1933.

From this it can be seen that Orange county's retail business actually amounted to considerably more than the figure shown above, which reflects only sales which could be taxed.

The tax is collected by merchants at the time of the sales. They, in turn, pay it to the state board of equalization 15 days after the close of each quarter.

POPULAR SPEAKER TELLS CLUBWOMEN WHAT WORLD THINKS

"What the World Is Thinking in Terms of Politics, Countries, Literature," was very ably told at Placentia Round Table club's regular semi-monthly meeting in its clubhouse recently by Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith of Pacific Palisades, who has an enviable reputation as a commentator on topics of interest to the world today.

Mrs. Goldsmith has a rare gift of interpretation which passes on to others her vision and her own tolerance. She has a delightful charm which makes her topic more interesting and brings to her audience a more personal relationship.

"This month of November," said Mrs. Goldsmith, "brings to thinking people the fact that the world is fast becoming more and more chaotic. The fact that Germany, Italy and Japan must expand or explode is very evident and people on the continent are guessing what will be the result."

Mrs. Goldsmith was introduced by Mrs. Sam Kraemer, jr., of the program committee, at the close of the business session.

Music for the afternoon was given by a talented trio of Orange county girls, Ruth, Gertrude and Marjorie Allen, daughters of Mr.

WOMEN NIL ON FINANCES?

One of Them Says They Are

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (AP)—Mrs. Lorraine L. Blair, organizer of the women's finance forum, said today women generally could not answer simple questions on finance which would vitally concern their families' future in event they were widowed.

Mrs. Blair said she came to that conclusion after interviewing 20,000 women for jobs and lecturing before women's clubs.

She gave a list of 10 questions she said she propounded before women's clubs to show the members how little they were informed on pertinent family financial matters. The questions were:

1. Has your husband a will?
2. Do you know the difference between a stock and a bond?
3. Do you know where your husband's safety deposit box is?
4. Is there a second beneficiary on your husband's insurance policy?

5. What would you do if your husband died tonight?
6. To whom would you go for financial advice?
7. Do you know how much you should inherit from his estate?
8. How would you invest any money from the estate?
9. Do you know if the estate has been planned so you could live on the income or would have to liquidate the assets?
10. Do you know if provision has been made for available cash to pay probate costs?

"I have found many wives shy of asking their husbands about their wills, out of sentiment," Mrs. Blair said, "but there is nothing sentimental about the hard fact that at the age of 65 there are two women alive to one man."

And Mrs. M. B. Allen, Garden Grove, which won high honors in the vocal division of the southern California Allied Arts festival. They were accompanied by their sister, Miss Dorothy Allen, teacher in the Placentia schools. They are also sisters of Lawrence Allen, Placentia church assistant.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Frank Rosapaw, the meeting was opened by Mrs. Melvin Salvason, vice president.

Reports of committees included Curtin, Mrs. A. W. Cleaver, Mrs.

TRAFFIC CRASH KILLS THIRD COUNTY PEDESTRIAN IN FIVE DAYS

DEATH CAR'S DRIVER IS SOUGHT

Francis Beamer, Garden Grove, Hurt Fatally On Highway 101

Killed in county traffic accidents this year 56
Killed in county traffic accidents same time last year 47

For the third time within five days, death has overtaken a pedestrian on an Orange county highway.

The third victim was Francis Beamer, 24, Garden Grove, who was killed at 11 p. m. Saturday on Highway 101, one-half mile north of the Orange county hospital. Officers are searching for the driver of a car drawing a trailer that ran over Mr. Beamer after he had been knocked to the pavement by another machine.

Woman Struck Down
According to a report filed with highway patrolmen, Mr. Beamer and Mrs. Hallie Beamer, 26, Garden Grove, were walking across the highway in front of the Dixie Cafe when they were struck by a car driven by Clois Purvis, 21, of 1655 East First street, Santa Ana.

Mr. Purvis stopped his car, and ran to the side of Mrs. Beamer where she was lying in the gutter at the side of the highway. He told state highway patrolmen he did not realize at the time that his car had struck a second person.

Mr. Beamer also had been knocked down and was lying in the center of the highway when a second car, drawing a trailer, ran over him. The driver of the car failed to stop. George Edwards, Anaheim, saw the car run over Mr. Beamer.

Inquest Planned
Mr. Purvis picked up the injured man and his wife and took them to the county hospital in his car. Mr. Beamer expired soon after his arrival. Officers believe the victim suffered the fatal injuries when he was run over by the second car.

The body has been removed to the Winigler mortuary in Santa Ana, where an inquest will be held.
Joseph Alfred Gill, 46, of 114 West 118th street, Los Angeles, was killed late Friday evening when he was assertedly struck by a car driven by G. W. Bowen, 816 North Main street, Huntington Beach, one mile north of Stanton on Huntington Beach boulevard. William H. Bothwell, 37, transient, was fatally injured early Thursday morning on Highway 101, north of Fullerton.

'SOUL AND BODY' TOPIC SUNDAY AT SCIENCE CHURCH

"The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him." This verse from Lamentations constituted the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul and Body" on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon were these words of Jesus, from Matthew: "And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Where-withal shall we be clothed?"

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the statement, "The Recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more Soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony."

Chatter of Doings at Laguna Beach

By MAXINE STOREY

Generators of the home of the Roy M. Ropp's the other evening were a group of friends who accepted the "at home" invitation to criticize Mr. Ropp's collection of paintings. Honored guest was an old, gray-haired man, walking slowly and unsteadily with a cane. Studying the pictures carefully, with a deliberate manner of speaking the gray-haired man pointed out perhaps the most interesting and constructive criticisms Mr. Ropp could have received. Antony Anderson, long resident in Laguna, who recently returned after living for about a year in Balboa, was the critic.

Now retired and content daily to walk and talk with his old friends in Laguna, Mr. Anderson was once the greatest art critic in Southern California, and perhaps in the United States. He worked for 19 years on the Los Angeles Times as art critic, wrote innumerable and famous books on art (one of them being about Thomas Hunt, noted Laguna artist), collected paintings, and became famed throughout the Southland.

Guests who were present rightly stated "that he still knows more than most of them."

Those who attended the showing, which included pictures painted by Mr. Ropp on his recent trip throughout Arizona and New Mexico, were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Perry McCullough, Mrs. Henry Kenyon Beckwith, Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin, Mrs. Marion Forrest, Miss Hahn, Forrest, Earl N. Ostrom and Sherman Paddock.

As part of Laguna Christmas festivities the Community Players are planning to produce a rollicking comedy entitled "Let Who Will Be Clever" written by Alden Nash. Casting began Wednesday night and local thespians are already busily studying scripts and preparing costumes. Mrs. Samuel C. (Betty) Pierce will direct, and Ralph Van Hoorbeke will neglect Hollywood stars homes to design the set. In the cast, which is a complete decision upon will be Barbara Read, Halmer Forrest, Charlotte Frost, Ralph Van Hoorbeke, Betty Monahan, Doreen Pilling and Lester Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frost, Jr., Gates Burroughs, Ramona Harris and Hugo Lindbergh among those at the Coast Patrol card party and dance in Balboa Saturday eve; Ralph Frost, Jr. president of the Orange County Bridge association, was bridge supervisor and Gus Baldwin, Lagunaite and head of the Coast Patrol was "chief" of the entire affair. . . Stoddard Ford about Saturday eve with an attractive brunette. . . Bing Crosby dining in Bird's White House cafe. . . Ted Cook, Jr., Tom Heywood and Bill Fassett wildly and seriously talking about the Bill Fassett - Chris Valente cards in which football enthusiasts try to pick out of four out of five winners. . . Madeline McKnight of for a vacation in San Francisco. . . Junior Wotkins, Dick Seymour, and Dorothy Pierce writing from Albuquerque that "the trip is swell"; they plan to spend the winter at the new Santa Ana dude ranch. . . Mrs. Ellis June La Pierre, former Lagunaite now living in Santa Ana, visiting her son and daughter-in-law, the Perry La Pierre's. . . Marjorie Hind, former Tustin co-ed now a junior at Redlands week-ending with her parents. . . Conkey planning a vacation trip to Seattle soon. . . ## 300 Attend Bachelors' 11th Ball

More than 300 Santa Ana Junior college students and alumni swirled the floor of the Lake Norconian club Saturday night when they celebrated at the 11th annual Bachelors' ball.

A semi-formal event, the dance intrigued women of the campus to bring out their prettiest frocks. Mrs. D. K. Hammond, who with Director Hammond, was an honored guest, wore a red crepe dress with a tunic coat, while Mrs. Calvin Flint, wife of the dean of men, chose a black crepe skirt with a silver top.

Miss Mary Lou McFarland, student social chairman, wore a flame satin skirt, topped with a gold lace blouse, while Miss Mary Wallace wore a black crepe-skirt with a gold lame tunic blouse.

Royal blue, trimmed in silver, was chosen by Miss Betty Martin. A black net, with rows of ruffles, edged in white rick-rack, making the skirt, was worn by Miss Evelyn Chapman. A rhinestone-studded jacket set off the turquoise satin frock chosen by Miss Valerie Demetriou. Miss Eva Bejere was a smart picture in a black velvet with a finger-tip dinner jacket, a gold cord at her waist.

In a black satin drop-shoulder mode, Miss Helen Marshall chose an old-fashioned hair dress. Tiny curls piled high in back with bangs in front made the coiffure. Miss Bobbie Copeland was home from U. C. L. A. for the occasion, looking chic in black net and silver. Mrs. Joe Knox (the former Marjorie Marble), wore a black satin with black lace, stand-up collar.

Shelby's nine-piece orchestra from Long Beach played for the dance.

Previous to the dancing, Bachelors and their guests met for dinner. Al Reboin, adviser, made the welcoming address, and short talks were given by Dean Flint and Director Hammond.

Another group who do not belong to Bachelors gathered at the Doris Kathryn tearoom. Fair colors with persimmons and other fruits for centerpieces, were used to decorate. The group motored to Lake Norconian club in a caravan.

The party included the Misses Mary Lou McFarland, Frances Was, Helena Bailey, June Light, Marie Van de Walker officiated. Election of officers will be held at the Christmas party meeting Dec. 19 at the home of Blanche Chandler, 406 East Walnut street. An exchange of gifts and luncheon have been planned.

Present Thursday were Lulu Lench, Fanny Lacey, Blanche Chandler, Ada Spencer, Lucille Rathbone, Mary Kuhl, Margaret Kuhl, Mary Cowley, Maude Swarthout, Maude Lenz, Mary Hertel, Ada Corey, Laura Trammel, Margie McKee, Jean Tremble, Martha Van de Walker and the hostess.

CUSTOMARY DINNER PARTY GIVEN BY MISS FRANCES POTTS

With the Thanksgiving holiday nearing, Miss Frances Potts observed her annual custom by entertaining yesterday in her home, 637 North Ross street, at a Thanksgiving family dinner party.

Her sister, Miss Gertrude Potts, and Miss Janet Briggs, "among those present" each year, are in Vienna, according to the latest word, and their absence made the group fewer in number for the day.

Guests included Mrs. W. H. Dillehunt and son, Bill, of Santa Monica, Miss Alice Kenline and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Potts and baby, Patricia, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons and daughter, Betty, of Santa Ana. Young Miss Patricia Potts will see her first Thanksgiving this year.

Mead Sisters Entertain At Party

Those two very popular young Santa Anans, Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, took advantage of the latter's respite from her Orange county hostess duties at the San Diego exposition to do some entertaining, Saturday, and gave an attractively-appointed luncheon at the Doris Kathryn tearoom.

A U-shaped table arrangement accommodated the party guests. Miss Nan Mead, who wore a green crepe frock, was at the head of the table, which was centered with autumn-toned chrysanthemums alternated with yellow candles and yellow nutbaskets with turkeys on them.

Miss Lolita Mead, in becoming blue frock, and Mrs. F. F. Mead, Jr., of Orange, wearing black, presided at either end of the table arrangement. Fruits and gourds spilled from a horn of plenty and sprays of cotoneaster struck a seasonal note on the mantel in the pleasant room.

Contract bridge prizes for the afternoon went to Mrs. Howard Thompson, recently arrived in Orange from Washington, D. C., and to Mrs. Kellar Watson, Jr., of Orange.

Others included in the guest list were Miss Kerin Cooper, Los Angeles; Mrs. Raymond Terry and Miss Florence Backs, Anaheim; Mrs. W. C. ## Santa Ana Clubwomen are beginning this new week still aglow with the inspiration of the theme, "Higher Levels," stressed by their district president, Mrs. John Stewart, at the southern district, California Federation of Women's clubs, convention three days last week at Hotel De Anza, Calexico.

International night, Wednesday evening at the hotel, was generally considered a highlight of the convocation, for to it were invited notables in various races, and stunts enlivened the occasion.

Mrs. Achibald Edwards of Fullerton, Orange county president, assisted in presiding Thursday morning. Mrs. Frank Rospaw and Mrs. Albert Lauer, Placentia and Fullerton, reported on the California Federation News' progress this year.

Mrs. James McCracken, Santa Ana, reported on and Mrs. C. M. Deakins, Balboa, on gardens in Thursday afternoon's session. Miss Josephine G. Seaman, junior past president of the state, discussed "Ourselves on Masse." El Centro Woman's club gave a tea.

Friday, playday, the delegates toured the valley, visited the new All American canal and had luncheon at Andrade, picturesque little town in Mexico.

From Santa Ana were Mesdames F. F. Mead, Lewis F. Moulton, T. E. Stephenson, E. D. White, Fred Rowland, Charles Carothers, C. M. Deakins, Paul Bailey and F. P. Jayne of Ebell and Mesdames William Whitehead, James McCracken and Charles Oakes of the Woman's club.

Members of the social section of the Woman's club of Santa Ana will meet for a desert bridge party tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. E. A. Elwell, 907 Lowell street.

A pleasant afternoon is anticipated by the group.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Which do you consider wiser, paying a little more than you can afford to get quality, or purchasing cheaply?

Mrs. J. H. Tompkins: It depends on the article and what you use it for. When it comes to staple things, good material will last longer and look better than the cheaper goods. Cheap things look well at first, but soon show the wear. I think it's better to buy for permanence.

Mrs. J. G. Limbird: My opinion is to buy the better quality thing, but one must consider his ability to keep it up. One can't always buy the best cuts of meat. In things that are lasting, it's worth while to buy the better things. Generally, if you pay a little more you get better quality in the end.

Rudolph Ganz, famous pianist and conductor, says "Prodigies are usually born too soon, at least five years before their 'time'."

Mary Stoddard Men Aren't All Egotistical, Declares Woman to "Exasperated Wife"

By MARY STODDARD

"Why are men as a class selfish and egotistical?" recently queried "An Exasperated Wife."

"And they are JUST THAT!" she added, and backed up her argument by describing the men folks of her family, her father, her four brothers, and now her husband.

Today a correspondent criticizes her for her "outburst" against the stronger sex. The critic, you would naturally suppose, was a man; but, instead, a woman comes to the rescue. Here is what she thinks about it:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I have just read what "Exasperated Wife" has to say about ALL men. I was so dumfounded at reading such a proclamation by one of the "fair sex" that I couldn't resist writing a few words.

I wonder if the "Exasperated Wife" realizes under what conditions she would be living today if it were not for men.

Just consider the far-reaching results of work accomplished by Thomas Edison, Abraham Lincoln, Col. William H. Bright, and I can name many more and I'm sure she can, too. Think of what they stood for, and what they accomplished—electric light, abolishment of slavery, and woman suffrage.

Surely, "Mrs. Exasperated," you can't call these men egotistical and selfish. They gave their lives to humanity and little regarded their personal selves.

I grant you, there are many men who are selfish and egotistical, but I think there are just as many women of this type.

If the only adjectives I could apply to the male sex of my family were "selfish" and "egotistical," I would be ashamed to admit it.

Think it over, and give the men the square deal which they deserve. MRS. FAIR-MINDED.

MRS. E. S. ROSS IS HOSTESS AT PARTY FETTING BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. E. S. Ross was hostess at a lovely shower Saturday evening at her home on North Cambridge street, Orange, honoring Miss Marion Garber, who in December will become the bride of Edward H. Devis.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS

SANTA ANA'S newspaper personnel has undergone important changes during the past week. The retirement of J. Frank Burke as editor and publisher of The Register; the sale by him of the controlling stock interest to the Messrs. R. C. and C. H. Hoiles; and the appointment of Mason Yould as editor mark a milestone in this community's journalistic history.

Moreover, the Messrs. Hoiles just at this time have bought the Clovis, N. M., News-Journal.

We congratulate the new owners and editor of The Register on these various developments. We greet them as competitors here because we believe their competition will be conducted on an ethical and fair basis. During the seven months we have been publishing The Journal, we have found The Register, under Mr. Burke's and Loyal King's direction, an interesting newspaper, and we anticipate pleasant relationship with the new Register regime.

Meantime the publishers of The Journal are most happy over their experience in Orange county. This newspaper has made excellent progress in all departments, and on every side we have found representative Orange county people pleased with the changed public situation resulting from journalistic competition after years of a monopoly condition. It is their universal testimony that the competition has created a stimulated and healthy public spirit and that the coming of The Journal has reunited the people on a definite forward march toward progress and broader vision.

The Journal has grown and developed and gained strength and wisdom during its first half year. We purpose to do a great deal more growing and developing as the months ensue. We have many plans for advancement, and so also no doubt have the new owners of The Register for their paper. This is important to the community life of Santa Ana as the city and its surrounding country move into a period of increasing business and civic activity.

HELPING WAR

(From Christian Science Monitor)

ON THE basis of independent investigation, The Christian Science Monitor reported on Oct. 28 that "the Administration's effort to discourage trade with belligerents has failed miserably." The fact is that trade in essential raw materials has been steadily going up.

Secretary Hull has now confirmed this grave state of affairs in an official announcement. He states that "the American people are entitled to know" that the exports of war commodities, such as oil, copper, trucks, tractors, scrap iron, etc., are "considerably increased" and that they are being shipped "for war purposes." Mr. Hull fairly describes this trade as "directly contrary to the policy of this government and to the spirit of the neutrality act."

Failure of the American government to keep American exporters from carrying the nation's business into the war zone is not due to any lack of effort either on the part of the president or of the secretary of state. The failure of these efforts is due to the inherent defects in the embargo legislation passed by the last congress. This legislation embargoes "implements of war." It prohibits trade where there is no trade. It prohibits trade in the munitions of war. It permits trade in the raw materials essential for the prosecution of war.

This embargo was designed to keep the United States out of the war. It is indisputable that this was the intention of congress. It is indisputable that this is the wish of the American people.

There are two forms of neutrality. One is the neutrality of 1914—a neutrality which seeks to "help" both sides and to make profit from both sides. The other is the intended neutrality of 1935—a neutrality which seeks to help neither side by refusing to help war, and which seeks to keep the nation aloof from war.

There is no aloofness from war in profiting from war. There is no aid to peace in furnishing the fuel of war. Until congress amends the embargo legislation so as to prohibit all trade and all loans to the belligerents, the neutral convictions of the American people will continue to be at the mercy of a group of war-profiting exporters.

A wounded Italian soldier cried, "Long live the Duce; long live Italy." He might make up his mind.

SPEAKING OF JOKES

DENVER school children are being given a course in humor. "We believe jokes are, or should be, a part of everyday life," said Miss Elizabeth Wells, school principal. They are, and here's one on the schools.

Last congress passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill with an "anti-red" clause, urged by the star-spangled statesman, the Hon. Tom Blanton of Texas. This said that none of the money could be spent for "teaching or advocating Communism." The Corporation Counsel ruled that this didn't mean that teachers couldn't teach about Communism. But Comptroller General McCarl rules that teachers must take an oath every pay day that they are guilty of violating the law. The rider opens the schools to a system of espionage and terrorism.

This new educational formula against unpleasant things opens up vast possibilities for congress. If the theory is sound, congress can wipe out war in Africa, polygamy in Polynesia, Jew-baiting in Germany and unemployment, crime and poverty in the United States simply by forbidding school teachers to mention such things.

"Gracious, with carriage that bespeaks long familiarity with wealth and fame, Mrs. Gable refused to be interviewed." From a Hollywood dispatch. Gracious!

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: One of those whirly girls sat next to me at a counter snack place this noon. I've been on the loose all night, she volunteered. "Do I look a fright?" She looked as poised, smooth little fellow, the caravanserai passes! "The dogs bark, the caravan passes!"

Albert Payson Terhune bivouacked with Bedouins. Ripley, too. Each has a complacent philosophy. Such sartorial effects Ted Saucier achieves. Today he was diked out in a golden brown great coat with a hood and red carnation. And a little further along McClelland Barclay with a sky-blue muffer dotted in pink.

Vast amusement in the help-wanted columns of the Billboard. A band in New Orleans wants "A trombone player, sweet and goo-goo." Nothing cleaner, finer, less white heat, than the theater than Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice." I am struck with the similarity of the voices of John Charles Thomas and Nelson Eddy.

Two viewpoints: A sprig from Philadelphia writes: "I'm just a cub trying to make a Paisley vocabulary fall into cute folds, a headful of ideas and a struggle to express them. Writing looks so easy, but it is a trick to blurt things on the typewriter as though they were casual." Another in the Ozarks: "It's so far in the backwoods that people's breath smells like tan bark. We use possums for tom-cats and the 'whoop and holler' telephone system. But writing is easy. I love it. I write eight hours a day."

Emeline Detwiler tells about the 8-year-old poetess who sent an offering to Nelson Duobleday, the publisher. Ancient minnesingers have done worse and achieved immortality. Here it is: "Yesterday you were a beautiful thing running across the road, little white hen. But that was then." And I like the description Somerset Maugham has for envy: "Not because people do not like you but because they are not like you."

M. Surprises with fluency in French. Yesterday she rattled slappity-bang to a vendue in a perfume salon. A day two years ago during an exasperating incident in Paris she exclaimed: "I'm going to speak this language yet." I parroted: "Me, too." She did. I did not. Nothing makes a writer vincer more than something written years back. A day two years ago during an exasperating incident in Paris she exclaimed: "I'm going to speak this language yet." I recognized one of those industrious pickpockets with a rag who watches folk approach their cars and then begins furiously to polish the hood for a tip. He was an oily night club gigolo of the boom. They were talking, a group last night, about things they really wanted to do. I admired the frankness of one successful fellow who yearned to be a henjo like Edna Peck. He also they discussed irritating radio voices, but no one mentioned that bitten-off bluster to be so dramatic crying: "Time marches on." Bob Davis in town again.
